

One day Baby Echo was looking for his mother.

He looked and looked but he couldn't see her.

So he hopped over to the middle of the big branch.

He looked and looked there, but he still couldn't see her.

So he hopped over to the very edge of the big long branch.

He looked and looked there, but he still couldn't see her.

He sat up and thought, "Where is my mother?"

Just then he heard a noise behind him. He turned around and looked down.

Baby Echo saw his mother. At last he was happy.
